"Cannot Escape" Hirohito No. 1 War Criminal With Japanese Communists

By HAMILTON W. FARON

TOKYO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Emperor Hirohito heads a war criminal list prepared by the fledgling Japanese Communist party because he must share responsibility for the attack on Pearl Harbor that opened the Pacific war, Yoshio Shiga, one of the party's leaders, said today.

"The emperor cannot escape war guilt," said Shiga, and should be exiled to China under Allied surveillance.

The Communist Party body announced it will sponsor a country-wide campaign to investigate Japan's war criminal—starting Dec. 8, the Pearl Harbor anniversary.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS received reports of Allied occupation policies and reported that Japanese war criminals have shattered Japan's war-mind spiritual and economic control systems as effectively as bombs destroyed cities and factories.

The headquarters statement, summarizing changes which have freed Japan's common people from regimentation and from domination by ruling classes, reported new orders issued to be issued "will remove many of the shackles which now hold farmers and their families in a condition approximating slavery. Free marketing in a state of freedom will follow."

THE FREEDOM the Allies have brought will teach the people what democracy means, but "there is nothing easy or soft about the life the Japanese must lead before they can be accepted as a peaceful nation," the headquarters statement emphasized.

In their first concrete platform, the Communists requested the release of political leaders, proposed "new penalization" of some war criminals and officials guilty of misadministration during the past military dictatorship.

THE PLATFORM appealed for seizure of the country's farm lands and redistribution of them among farmers, and for workers' control of major industries. It also requested the Communist demands for "overthrow of the Emperor system and establishment of a people's republic," the newspaper Akah reported.

Other planks opposed militarism and imperialist legislation and education, "strict restriction of the police," and "abolition of the Japanese declaration of war against the peace governments of the various democratic governments."

SEVERAL JAPANESE, including Shigenaga Masamichi, former vice-minister of foreign affairs, and Shigenaga Masamichi, former ambassador to Burma, were scheduled to leave today for India to testify at the trials of provincial government leaders of the Japanese-sponsored during the war.

Manji Shigenaga, former foreign minister, also was requested by the Allies to go but pleaded illness and remained in Japan.

Attlee Trip

Attlee is Ottawa next Saturday evening.

NO MEETINGS of the three leaders were scheduled for today but they will get together later in the week and leave for the summit at the conclusion of their talks.

We are all working well together," Mr. King said.

The prime minister said he had shortened his trip to Britain in order to take part in the discussion of the atomic problem.

HE EMPHASIZED the tremendous importance of the discussion, dealing as they do with such a great and all-important problem as the atomic bomb.

Mr. King said his visit to London had "of the most profound value." He would not say any conclusions had been reached on trade matters, but referred to an Ottawa newspaper editorial which said he had kept the three best between London and Ottawa on trade agreement.

"I do not think I need a single message to Ottawa on that subject," he said.

Report Russia Has Rescinded News Censorship

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Soviet censorship of outgoing news dispatches appeared today to have been lifted, although the Soviet press has no official announcement and foreign correspondents still are submitting reports as previously by stamping by censor.

Good Progress Is Being Made In Atom Talks

By MERRIAM SMITH

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The three-nation atom bomb conference appeared today to have made such extensive progress that further formal meetings were postponed temporarily to permit discussion to go on.

Each participating nation, according to authoritative sources, has much paper work to do before final plans which will be worked out before the next session among Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King, President Truman and Prime Minister Clement Attlee.

ATTLEE'S PLAN for internationalization of the atomic bomb and other secret war weapons was understood to have been the basis for yesterday's discussions about the navy, said, Sequoia.

Under the Attlee plan, Russia and her part would have to pool her secrets too and come to a clear-cut understanding with the western allies about her political and security ambitions. Otherwise, the U.S. and Canada would have to keep the atom secret.

THE BRITISH prime minister, who was a weekend guest at the White House, went to the British embassy after a breakfast talk with Mr. Truman. He was expected to stay today on the speech he will deliver before a joint session of Congress.

Officials and experts of each government were continuing to prepare documents to be submitted to the next joint meeting of the conference, which is scheduled for tomorrow. Conference was expected to start from London, where the three nations would meet to discuss a single plan which would be subject to approval or revision by Canadian, American, Attlee, and Mackenzie King.

THE WHITE HOUSE announced in the morning that "presumably" the British prime minister would be returning later today, but a spokesman said the British prime minister would not be returning today. He would be expected to meet with Lord Keynes, chief British representative in financial talks, and to discuss the final draft of his speech to Congress.

Attlee was expected to confer with Lord Keynes, chief British representative in financial talks, and to discuss the final draft of his speech to Congress.

IT WAS UNDERSTOOD Attlee wished to discuss not only the proposed internationalization of the atom but also Britain's economic position, which would be discussed tomorrow.

Authoritative sources said Attlee would be expected to discuss the final draft of his speech to Congress, which would be discussed tomorrow.

Attlee was expected to confer with Lord Keynes, chief British representative in financial talks, and to discuss the final draft of his speech to Congress.

Dental Society President Here For Conferences

The dental profession in Alberta made the greatest contribution to the armed forces on a per capita of registration basis, with 40 per cent of the members of the profession in the province serving Dr. Harry W. T. Tupper, president of the Canadian Dental Society, stated on his arrival here to confer with the members of the Edmonton Dental Society.

Dr. Reid, who is accompanied by Dr. J. H. Tupper, president of the society, is making a nationwide tour to discuss problems confronting the profession, and also some phases of the society's educational work.

HE SAID THAT one of the major problems facing the organization was the finding of offices for the re-establishment of dental services, turning from the armed forces.

This lack of office space, which is a problem throughout the country, is seriously hampering the dental profession, giving service to returned military personnel. This service is free under provision made in the War Relocation Act, and it is being carried out by the dental profession from the armed forces, Dr. Reid stated.

IF SUITABLE office space is available, the dental profession is willing to give service to returned personnel, and also to relieve the financial burden of the dental profession, which has been carrying a very heavy load since the war.

Dr. Reid paid tribute to the co-operation of the dental profession in public throughout the war years. "They have been most understanding and cooperative in the face of the war, and the dental profession is extremely grateful for the public's co-operation."

City Chaplain Urges Veterans To 'Stand Fast'

Returned veterans were urged to "stand fast" for the things they comrades died for by Chaplain A. C. Clough in a Remembrance Day service in the Army and Navy Club, Nov. 11.

"STAND FAST as you remember their sacrifices in a common life," Chaplain Clough said, "and the city of Edmonton." Chaplain Clough is a member of the Imperial Canadian Veterans' Association.

Members of the Imperial Canadian Veterans' Association and the Red Cross Association also attended the service, and all later joined in a general parade to the Cenotaph.

REDEDICATION of the cenotaph in the city of Edmonton, Alberta, was held Sunday.

An instrument was first dedicated to men from the university who died in the First Great War, a service in 1925. Now it is dedicated to students and faculty officials in the city of Edmonton.

Prof. L. H. Nichols played several songs during the service.

AMONG those attending were Mr. Justice Frank Ford, chancellor, and Justice H. H. Parke, chairman of the board of governors of the University of Alberta.

It was stated that the university had dedicated the cenotaph to the memory of those who died in the two wars.

Trial of Nazis Starting Today At Medicine Hat

MEDICINE HAT, Nov. 12.—(CP)—The southern Alberta city today will be the scene of the first German prisoner-of-war murder trial in Canada's history.

Three Nazis, all members of the one-grouped Marshall Brothers' Air Corps, face preliminary hearing in civil court, charged with the murder of August Plassek, fellow prisoner, in the large prisoner-of-war camp here July 22, 1943. The alleged murderers are Johannes Whittinger, Adolf Kritz and Werner Schwalb, each about 25 years of age.

BODY OF PLASSEK was found hanging in the recreation hall of the camp and immediate investigation was started by Royal Canadian Mounted Police. It was believed that Plassek had committed suicide. No details have been released concerning cause of the killing but it was believed Plassek was murdered because he was an anti-Nazi.

L. S. TURCOTTE of Lethbridge has been appointed by Justice Minister St. Laurent to defend the three Germans and the hearing is scheduled to start at 11 a.m. CST. They will be charged in the same manner as any other persons charged with murder in Canada and this demands a preliminary hearing and then a trial by jury before a Supreme Court judge.

The men were formally charged in RCMP report at Lethbridge last Oct. 13 and have been held in the Lethbridge jail since. In court they were the regular German army uniforms.

Baker Ends Contract Army Rushes East Supply: Sends Plane With Two Counces

TERRACE, B.C., Nov. 12.—(CP)—G. N. MacLellan, bakery proprietor here, said he has wired the defence department cancelling his contract for supplying bread to the army and Air Force personnel.

The bread-maker said he had used his full supply of yeast in baking for the services and civilians in the north and had asked the Army office, for yeast to be flown in on the regular RCAF supply aircraft, as Terrace is still without train service as a result of slides right days ago.

THE PLANE ARRIVED Friday with a little ton in Northern British Columbia on the Canadian National Railway transcontinental line and unloaded a supply of yeast.

The aircraft consisted of two counces.

THE WEEK-END was one of one meeting after another, leading an aspect of how the situation was being met by the Chinese government. The meeting was held by the Chinese secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Congress strike committee, that there was no reason why the company and union men could not sit down and negotiate a contract.

IN TORONTO last night C. H. Mulard, national director of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), fresh from a visit to Windsor, led a unionist meeting that was held in the Ford dispute were "not very far apart."

Last week brought two settlement plans, one from the company and the other from the union which demands union rights, including a dues checkoff, holidays with pay and reduced hours with no reduction in take-home pay.

THE UNION'S POLICY committee promptly turned down the company plan, the company paid no public attention to the union plan. Work on a second union proposal started Saturday immediately after the arrival of Mr. Conroy from Ottawa and in a long series of meetings Sunday he, with members of his committee, the UAW policy committee and V. George Aden, UAW international secretary-treasurer, worked on the formula.

YESTERDAY the leaders took time to attend a meeting which took place in support of the Ford strike and it was at that meeting Mr. Conroy said he saw no reason why the company and union could not negotiate a contract.

Spent Bullet Taps Calgarian Upon Shoulder CALGARY, Nov. 12.—(CP)—Austin Klink, 25-year-old Calgary stockbroker, checked last night and said, "I've got Superman beaten all hollow." As he described how a bullet struck him on the left shoulder blade Sunday afternoon and then dropped to the floor.

It did penetrate his clothing or skin, and left only a small, red mark on his shoulder, which disappeared by the time he was taken to the hospital.

THE STRAY BULLET crashed through a window pane in the case of Gordon Blair, a friend who lives in the western residential section while Klink was visiting there.

Thursday was postponed until tonight when 120 printers received their meeting.

A statement issued by the union last night said "It has been expected that the committee would have something definite relative to a settlement to report following conference held in the afternoon by Mr. Justice W. J. Major on Sunday."

But at the request of Mr. Justice Major a further conference between himself and the union committee is to be held at 2 p.m. Monday.

UPON RECEIPT of this information the union recessed until 11 p.m. tonight when the report of the committee will be received and acted upon.

The combined staffs of the two newspapers will today publish the second edition, eight-page photostatic newspaper.

Similar to the procedure under the Strathmore edition, it will consist of typeset material, set up on dummy sheets and photographed. Engravings are made of the photostatic sheets and converted into stereotype casts. The paper can

"Monty" States Co-operation Is Allied Need

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery declared yesterday that the British and Canadian forces must co-operate in making the four-week campaign to clear the German front effective, and that British authorities are taking precautions against civilian uprisings in France during the winter hardships.

He said French rearmament is being set up by a central administration for Germany was the chief factor in the wider field of co-operation of the four-power control of the German Reich.

HE TOOK a grave view of the possibility of civilian outbreaks, saying they may be a disaster to the recovery of the country.

The commander of the British occupation zone described the present situation in Germany as "one of the most important in the history of international co-operation," but added that if it fails "the prospect of successful co-operation between the Great Powers in a wider field will be much impaired."

EXPRESSING HIS VIEWS at an Armistice Day press conference, Field Marshal Montgomery said: "There is no need for me to tell you the chief object of my mission here is, you know very well, that it has not been possible so far to secure the peace of the country with this matter with that of the three powers which sat together at Potsdam and agreed to establish a central administration."

The field marshal expressed his belief that a way around these difficulties "will be found," adding that such a step was necessary "because of certain practical considerations which must be met by the four powers in coming to grips with the economic situation through Germany."

OFFICIAL FORMANTS had said previously that if France persisted in opposing a central administration, the Allies would wait until it was clear that a way around these difficulties "will be found," adding that such a step was necessary "because of certain practical considerations which must be met by the four powers in coming to grips with the economic situation through Germany."

THE OFFICIAL stated he was startled by Mr. Gordon's inference that if free enterprise was not able to prevent unemployment and depression, the state would have to expand its controls and move into fields where it is not experienced.

The Canadian chamber has gone over to the government to lift the right restrictions which are at present curtailing business.

SHOULD ANYTHING in the way of a depression occur, it will be the result, not of a failure of free enterprise to function, but of the impendence of a disaster function because of the lack of freedom," he claimed.

INDIVIDUAL CANADIANS had their share over in the 9th Loan—$800,000,000—and went well in the top last week. With Saturday's subscriptions, the total divided total climbed to $1,021,786,000, at against corresponding figure of $691,962,520 in the 8th Loan drive.

THE BRITISH released 3,500 hostages held by the Nationalists in Serrahija, reportedly including 4,000 Europeans. They announced that the city telephone exchange had been taken over late. The water and electric facilities were out of order, however.

Labor to Discuss Sympathy Strike A mass meeting of Edmonton labor will be held Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple to discuss the sympathy strike with workers in the employees' strike at the Windsor, Ont. plant of the Ford Company of Canada.

The Edmonton Council of the Canadian Congress of Labor, at its meeting Monday night, will discuss proposals coming from the Congress' executive held over the week-end in connection with sympathy strike action.

It is expected that the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council here, as well as in all large centers in the Dominion, will co-operate in the movement with financial and moral support to the workers in the Ford plant.

Set New Record Victory Loan Sales in City

Ninth Victory Loan sales in Edmonton at the close of the three-week campaign totalled $2,700,000, an all-time record for Victory Loan sales, and $1,570,000 above the original quota set for the city. It was stated Monday by loan officials.

ON SATURDAY 1,800 subscribers paid $81.80 into the Victory Loan to bring the total of all subscribers in the loan to 27,300.

In the 24th week, subscribers purchased $6,384,300 from 27,300 investors. On the final day of that week, 2,400 subscribers purchased $647,500 of bonds.

Alberta is heading for an all-time high in Victory Loan sales. With many units still to hear from, Alberta Saturday night had rolled up an overall total of $6,384,300 in sales compared with $1,570,000 in the same period in the last Victory Loan.

OFFICIALS of National War Finance headquarters at Calgary believed that the grand total will reach $10,000,000 before all books are closed next week.

Although the campaign officially closed on Saturday night, many units still had time to add to the campaign in the next week in order to complete their quotas and this has been arranged.

Records show a $430,000 day, one of the best of the campaign.

A TOTAL of 10,000 applications from general canvass and payroll were recorded on Saturday for sales of $2,000,000.

During the three weeks campaign, 33,500 applications were received from members of the armed forces, for sales totalling $2,648,000. General canvass sales for the three weeks totalled $48,247,000 exclusive of the armed forces which were contributed by the 12th and 13th weeks.

Thus the total by individuals amounted to $2,648,000 as compared with $2,000,000 for the three weeks of the last loan.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION, Wetaskiwin, all Alberta cities passed their objectives in the Ninth Victory Loan campaign. Provincial headquarters of the National War Finance Committee announced Saturday evening.

Calgary, back in the standings since early in the campaign when Lethbridge was the first city over the top, attained top ranking in the final day by achieving 123 per cent of its objective.

Following is the standing of cities:

Calgary — $10,255,450 26.30 121
Red Deer — 70,300 1.28 121
Medicine Hat — 1,410,800 3.91 128
Edmonton — 9,270,000 27.00 120
Brumley — 1,601,000 4.61 100
Wetaskiwin — 41,500 82 82

The motive power department, Calder shops of the Canadian National Railways, went over the top, achieving 123 per cent in the Ninth Victory Loan campaign last week.

ON FRIDAY S. F. Dingle presented a Y flag to R. D. Britton, general manager of the department. Section forces of the railway subscribed $114,820 for 103 per cent of their objective and employees of bridge and building staffs contributed $26,400 for 113 per cent of quota.

SINCE OFFICIAL returns were made on Saturday the following rural units have exceeded their quotas: Mundare, Clondamond, Brumley, and to which more than $1,000,000 was contributed by the 12th and 13th weeks.

Leading salesmen in Edmonton on Saturday were J. A. Daniels, Mr. E. B. McCormick, D. E. West, and William Brown.

9th Loan bonds lagged behind that of the 8th Loan, but final figures at the close of business Saturday showed 2,346,500 purchasers of 9th Loan bonds, against 2,551,000 in the previous campaign.

Aussies Walk Off Overcrowded Ship Youth Is Again In Police Cells For Car Thefts

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(CP)—Four hundred Royal Australian and Royal New Zealand Air Force officers and several officers refused to sail for Australia aboard the Orient liner Orion yesterday because of what they termed "disgusting overcrowding."

turned from Regina Friday after being held there for assaulting a Chinese, are being held by Edmonton police in connection with auto thefts and other charges.

A 14-year-old Calder district youth, who was turned over to the jurisdiction of his parents following his bearing in juvenile court two weeks ago, was charged with theft of automobiles and breaking and entering, was booked in at police headquarters on a charge of stealing automobiles.

FOLLOWING HIS BEARING last month by a juvenile court judge, who was brought to the court by the Calgary to deal with the case, the youth was to have been sent to an uncle in Halifax. He was released in August on 14 charges of breaking and entering, and carrying "thousands of dollars worth of damage" in his career of crime.

The arrest of the "teen-ager" Saturday followed a week-end series of car robberies, involving in addition two boys aged 15 and 16, and a 15-year-old girl.

Police said the four youngsters Saturday afternoon stole an automobile from the house of Dr. A. D. 10235 132 street, from a downtown parking lot, and drove it to the Mayfair Golf and Country Club district, where it was "diverted" because of engine trouble.

THE YOUTHS are then said to have stolen an automobile owned by George Manning, 18111 Edgarsboro, driving it to the Wetaskiwin district where the Calder youth left the other three to return to Edmonton.

They were arrested by Calgary police and are being held for the Edmonton court.

MEANWHILE, according to police, the sale by 12th and 13th weeks in Wetaskiwin and drove to the south of the city, where the car was overturned in a ditch. They were arrested by Calgary police and are being held for the Edmonton court.

Remember Two Conflicts

World Pauses to Remember Glorious Dead of Two Wars

By The Canadian Press

Men and women of many countries for two solemn minutes of silence Sunday reflected upon the cost to the world of the two most devastating wars it has ever known.

THEY GATHERED in cities, towns and villages around the world for Remembrance Day services commemorating the dead of the First and Second Great Wars.

A cold November sun shined down on bomb-scarred London where thousands assembled in Whitehall for the observance of the two-minute silence at the Cenotaph.

There the King and Princess Elizabeth were among those who placed wreaths at the base of the stone shaft raised in memory of the fallen in the conflict of 1914-18. A memorial service also was held in Westminster Abbey, itself damaged by enemy bombs in the war just ended.

In Ottawa 2,000 veterans led by Lt.-Col. C. C. I. Merritt of Vancouver and Belleville, Ont., first Canadian to win the VC in the Second Great War, marched past the Peace Tower on Parliament Hill. Finance Minister Flaherty, acting prime minister, took the salute.

ON THE FIRST peacetime Remembrance Day in seven years services were held in every city, town and village of the Dominion.

In Washington government heads of the United States, Great Britain, and Canada—gathered for conferences on the future of atomic energy which may determine whether the world will remain at peace in the years ahead—took part in the observances.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, Prime Minister Atlee and Prime Minister King placed wreaths on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of the United States in Arlington National Cemetery, then. In a driving rain, they went to the nearby monument erected by Canada in honor of Americans who lost their lives while serving with the Canadian Army during the First Great War, where Mr. King placed a wreath. Mr. Atlee placed a wreath on the grave of Field Marshal Sir John Dill, British representative of the combined chiefs of staff, who died last year.

IN PARIS, Gen. De Gaulle stood before the tomb of France's Unknown Soldier at the Arc de Triomphe and told his countrymen: "We must understand how eternally precious our country's safety remains." The caskets of 15 French war heroes were assembled at the tomb.

Australians observed with deep feeling the first peacetime Armistice anniversary since 1918.

IT KEEPS POP DRY—Two-and-a-half years ago, Frank J. Goskey, of Cleveland, O., discovered that his trousers were a bit damp after holding his new daughter, Kathy, on his lap while feeding her. Enough's enough, thought he, and when another daughter, Lois Eileen, arrived recently, he was ready for her with his invention—the "feederette".

who were to have led the assault on that country scheduled for this month, attended services in the Nagasaki area.

In Saigon, Indo-China, British, French and Indian servicemen paraded through the streets after a memorial mass at the Roman Catholic cathedral.

Urges Vigilance To Stop Attack Via Space Ships

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(CP)—Constant preparation against possible attacks from an aggressor using space ships, atomic explosives and robot-operated aircraft was recommended yesterday in a detailed report to the secretary of war by Gen. H. H. (Hap) Arnold, commander of the United States Army Air Forces.

WHILE AMERICA should employ all its resources and most of them in the cause of peace, it must realize, Gen. Arnold said, that the best security against atomic weapons is the ability to meet such attacks with overwhelming force.

"It must be apparent to a potential aggressor that an attack on the United States will be immediately followed by an immensely devastating atomic attack on him."

GEN. ARNOLD made his third and first report to the secretary of war covering the operations of the AAF from the beginning of this year to the present.

He described in detail the operations in Europe where Allied air power softened and crippled German facilities for victory of the ground forces, and in the Far East where, he said, ordinary air bombing had virtually stopped Japan before the first atomic bomb fell on Hiroshima.

WHILE the general report on European operations referred almost entirely to the activities of the American air force, he wrote:

"This does not mean that we won the air war alone. We must never forget that the air war over Europe was a case of the closest joint effort with the RAF, from beginning to end."

"The Santa Claus myth has lived too long in terms of child psychology," Prof. McDougall said in an interview with the Baltimore News-Post. "Parents should inhibit the democratic philosophy. Children have to learn to get along."

And when it comes to living too long, "So has the stork myth," he added.

It wasn't that Professor McDougall forgot how close it's getting to Christmas but just a question of facing facts with facts.

Dev towers above the Irish political scene. Today he is 62 and he still hopes, before he dies, to see the end of Partition, the establishment of a United Ireland under a Dublin Parliament. The realization of that dream seems more remote today than it did before the war.

IN SPITE of Irish neutrality, there is little doubt that Ireland in Britain towards Southern Ireland more than at any period since the rebellion of 1916. Though the British feel that their safety in 1940 and '41 was jeopardized by the fact that we could not use the three Treaty ports in the South as bases in the war against the U-boats, most Englishmen realize that we must chiefly blame ourselves for our own situation. The British realize that we must chiefly blame ourselves for our own situation. The British realize that we must chiefly blame ourselves for our own situation.

But two indelible facts face the road to a United Ireland. Ulster upholds the Union with abiding fervor. And Britain's experience of what she suffered during the war, from the loss of the Treaty ports in the South, can hardly encourage her statesmen and strategists to bring pressure to bear on Ulster to join a United Ireland which might be neutral in the new war and leave the northwest approaches to the Clyde as exposed in the future as the southwest approaches to the Bristol Channel have been in this war.

SOME IRISH politicians would reply: "A United Ireland would have no grievance left against Britain; she would realize that her defense is bound up with that of Britain, and would almost certainly negotiate a defensive and offensive alliance for mutual security." The rub lies in the word "almost".

But there is another and probably more important factor in postponing the dream of a United Ireland. During the past 100 years, Anglo-American relations have been bedeviled by the Irish problem. Apart from the ceaseless propaganda which Ireland has directed across the Atlantic towards the 20 million Irish-Americans, there has been the influence of highly organized pressure groups, frequently led by American politicians who had no interest in Irish politics apart from securing the Irish vote. And this process often encouraged British Governments to carry favor with the United States by making what was often ill-judged and ill-timed concessions to Irish demands. There is no doubt that Mr. Chamberlain had an eye on American opinion when he ceded the Treaty ports to Mr. De Valera in 1938.

BUT THE WAR has brought about a change in this situation. Irish-Americans still think with love and nostalgia of their motherland, and still, like Dev, look forward to a United Ireland. But America too suffered during the war from Irish neutrality, and there is perhaps today a truer view on Irish-British relations. Only a change of heart can turn his dream into a reality, and it is in this power that Mr. De Valera and his colleagues will increasingly address themselves in the months ahead. And Englishmen will wish him well in this task, for a prosperous and united Ireland living in trust and unity with Great Britain is as much a British as it is an Irish interest.

HOWEVER, these facts have not clouded the watchful eye of Dev, who is certainly one of the world's ablest politicians. He realizes that further progress towards a United Ireland is largely dependent on gaining the good will and confidence of Ulster, and on the establishment of more friendly relations with Great Britain. Only a change of heart can turn his dream into a reality, and it is in this power that Mr. De Valera and his colleagues will increasingly address themselves in the months ahead. And Englishmen will wish him well in this task, for a prosperous and united Ireland living in trust and unity with Great Britain is as much a British as it is an Irish interest.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OIL

PAGES FROM AN OIL DRILLER'S "LOG" TELL

The Story of a Failure

"Bumping in 79 feet down!"

"Another lucky break!"

"The geologists were wrong"

"Fishing again for 12 days"

"Well abandoned—'Dry Hole'"

March 24th, 1943, "spudding in"... a big day for the drilling crew. 136-foot derrick completed, we started drilling Imperial Oil's "Royalty Wildcat Hills Well No. 1"—due north of Calgary-Banff highway, 35 miles from Calgary. Hoping for a real "strike"... geologists' survey indicates favorable oil structure at about 7,000 to 9,000 feet.

Trouble 710 feet down! Lost drill collar! In the hole. Might have been bad—but recovered collar and repaired break in drill shaft in 3 hours. Everybody breathed a big sigh of relief—sometimes this kind of accident sets us back days.

Another lucky break! Drill pipe "washed out" and twisted off at 775 feet. Luckily we got going once more in two hours. Using up plenty of drills on this hard rock. No easy job—pulling up hundreds of feet of pipe just to change a dull "bit"—then lowering the whole "string" again.

The geologists were wrong. Now drilling 2 miles underground, and these have been trying, disappointing months. Nature can fool the geologists. On this well, for instance, we expected to hit the formation we hoped would contain oil before this. Instead, one had "fault" after another—quite unexpected. On top of all that—got stuck in hole at 10,676 feet, taking eleven days to fish up drill pipes and repair.

"Fishing" again for 12 days. Stalled again at 10,688 feet—lost 12 days drilling out stuck tubing. But we still have hopes... a "strike" will pay back all the months of hard work and money invested.

April 21st, 1944, well abandoned—"Dry Hole". A black day for all of us. After 13 months' hard drilling, we struck salt water. Wet as salt water is, it's still the oil man's Nemesis—a "dry hole" that produces no oil. So we plugged the well at 11,155 feet down and abandoned it—a grave two miles deep for all our hopes of "Wildcat Hills Well No. 1."

1—Collar supports drill in underground hole.
2—More than 400 drilling bits were used in winning the well.
3—"Fishing" is a break in the earth's surface—a dislocation of the rock formation.
4—Cement plugs are inserted in the hole as required.

The facts in this record are taken from the drilling log of Imperial's "Wildcat Hills Well No. 1", which was begun on the favorable recommendation of Canada's leading oil geologists, who had explored the ground thoroughly. Estimated to cost $225,000, for drilling, it actually cost approximately $340,000, from start to "dry hole" finish. But the drillers and geologists of Imperial Oil go on undiscouraged—because they know that in opening up Canada's promising oil fields they add much to the nation's wealth... and help to make Canada ever more independent of foreign sources of the petroleum so indispensable to the life of our country and every one of its individual citizens.

Wainwright's Story—No. 30

Karenko Prisoners Haunted by Hunger Vile Jap Treatment

Starvation Diets Begin to Catch Up With Men as Japanese Pile Abuse Upon Abuse

Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright today gives, in the 30th article of his series, more details of the treatment he and other Allied soldiers received at the despic Karemko prison camp on Formosa.

—EDITOR.

By GENERAL JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT
(Copyright 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

As weak as I was on the morning of August 16, 1942, my first full day at Karemko prison, it was still almost a relief to get off that tiny cot at 6 o'clock. We were lined up then on the parade ground in front of the barracks, as on every morning to follow. We stood there about half an hour before the Jap officer on duty came along to supervise the roll call. This became a daily practice, and once we had to wait at attention two hours before the Jap sauntered by.

WHEN THE FIRST MORNING roll call was over, our food carriers went again to the kitchen and brought back another bucket of rice and the same kind of watery vegetable soup. We were hungry after finishing it as when we began. We were beginning to be haunted by hunger.

That afternoon our small luggage was returned to us, after having been thoroughly picked over. Nevertheless, we were required to take it out to the parade ground and once again it underwent a thorough picking. Finally, however, we were handed our toilet articles and when given permission we shuffled off in the rear of the barracks. We brushed our teeth and shaved for the first time since leaving Manila nearly a week before.

THE FIRST FEW DAYS of our long stay at Karemko were fretful ones, and the air was so tense it could be cut. We sat around talking quietly and wondering what was in store for us. Our months of halfeaten on Bataan and Corregidor, our starvation diets and our imprisonment were beginning to catch up with us. Aside from our emaciated, skeletal appearance, the first signs of our physical suffering were our feet and ankles. The Japs would not return our shoes, had the strange thing happened to our feet, the Japs would have been exasperated. The feet and ankles of many officers and men were so swollen, some to such an extent that the skin cracked open. Major Gen. Edward P. King was badly affected.

AFTER PERHAPS a week at Karemko we were led out to the parade ground once again. We were surrounded all of our heavier baggage in a pile. We had to sort out our individual gear and suddenly we were again in a pile. We were then taken to our quarters. We were then taken to our quarters. We were then taken to our quarters.

Our systematic starvation continued without incident one dreary day upon another, until September 24, 1942, when there was a commotion at the entrance to the prison enclosure and we saw many old friends being led in.

AMONG THEM were Maj. Gen. Sharp and other officers and enlisted men from his headquarters, Viayan-Mindanao force. In the group also were a number of British, Dutch and Australian generals, as well as Sir Sherbrooke Thomas, former governor of Hong Kong, and Sir Mark Young, former governor of Hong Kong, and Sir Mark Young, former governor of Hong Kong.

The new prisoners also contained the governor general of the Netherlands East Indies, Tjarda van Stark, and the governor of the Netherlands East Indies, Tjarda van Stark, and the governor of the Netherlands East Indies, Tjarda van Stark.

OPERATION "MUSK-OX"—Feb. 14 is the jump-off date for Operation "Musk-Ox," the Canadian Army's 310-mile winter trek across the top of Canada. Some 45 Army personnel and official observers will be in the moving party, travelling in Canadian designed armored snowmobiles, and they will be supplied from the air by planes of the Royal Canadian Air Force. The above map shows the route to be followed, starting at Churchill on Hudson Bay, touching in at Victoria Island beyond the Arctic Circle, and ending in early spring at Edmonton. Air supply will be carried on from bases shown on the map at Churchill, Fort Smith and Fort Nelson.

Rejects Request Sympathy Strike

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—(C.P.A.) R. Musher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said yesterday he had rejected a request by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers, a request that the Brotherhood stage a one-day sympathy strike in support of Ford workers at Windsor, Ont.

He said Local 360 of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) had sent him a telegram requesting a strike in favor of the union's demands that Royal Canadian Mounted Police and provincial police be withdrawn from Windsor and that the Ford Company grant union security.

MR. MOSHER said he was in sympathy with the workers but he was not prepared to support a sympathy strike. He said the workers were not really trained for the job, and he was not prepared to support a sympathy strike.

BRITISH OFFICERS Severed Jap Cables In Hazardous Task LONDON, Nov. 12.—(Reuters)—Two British naval submarines, working with oxygen apparatus in English, which had been separated from the rest of the fleet, had severed the cables of the Japanese submarine. The cables were severed by the submarine.

FOR ALL THESE reasons, plus those stated in the front of the book, I decided to surrender. But my most compelling reason was to do it in the night and my reason for doing it at night was to avoid the horror of the day.

300 Newspapers Are Sending Men To Nuernberg Trials NUREMBERG, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Allocation of seats in the press gallery for the trials of post-war Nazis was made today to more than 300 newspapers and news agencies representing more than 30 countries.

THE UNITED STATES, with between 70 and 80 correspondents, will have the largest representation at Nuernberg. The United States will be represented by the Associated Press, the United States, and the Soviet Union.

EARLY IN OCTOBER the Japs who at the start of the war had been sent up to the spirit and letter of the Geneva Convention, came to our officers in their way and told us we were volunteers to work for the Geneva Convention. They said that no officer who is a prisoner of war shall be required to perform labor. Nor is

They are Provided For There is something tragic about a family left unprotected. No man wants his wife and children to suffer in that way—and confidant men make it one of their first cares to provide for their dependents by means of Life Insurance. Men usually start with a modest policy, adding others as their earning powers grow. When the insurance is no longer required for protection to others it can be used as a pension for the insured.

Write for particulars of Confederation Life plans for the protection of dependents, as well as retirement income for yourself. These plans may be had with monthly income total disability benefits.

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

WHILE Canada's rehabilitation plans are, taken as a whole, more comprehensive than those of any other nation in the world, it is interesting to note what is being done for returned men in other countries. A copy of the pamphlet "Servicemen into Civilian," which outlines what New Zealand is doing for her returned servicemen has come into my possession and I was surprised to find that in several respects their plans are superior to ours.

I SAW TODAY—T. P. Roberts entering the Royal Alexandra hospital;

AND Jean Eadie walking north on 90 street; Gladys Leonard doing some early morning shopping; Margaret Nair entering the Teger building; Olive Caldwell at Jasper and 1st street; Dave McKenzie hailing a friend in front of the McLeod building.

Three Functions Held Citizens Honor Wartime Dead At Memorial Services Sunday

Stating that a "sense of shame" arising from the spirit of "fractional strife" still rampant despite an apparent peace was greater than other more noble emotions of respect, adoration and thankfulness, the Very Rev. Dean A. M. Tremblay, officiated at the Memorial Hall service. At the left below is His Hon. Lt. Gov. J. C. Bowen, placing a wreath at the Cenotaph. At the right, below, are Buglers Albert Jones and Herbert Maines sounding "Last Post" in salute to the dead of two world wars. A parade to the Cenotaph followed the service.

The Inquiring Reporter

What do you think of the announcement that Edmonton will be headquarters for much of the nation's military northern manoeuvres?

THE ANSWERS
RALPH WELLES, student: I think it's just another thing to be interested in to see some of the experimental work that will be done, particularly the testing of the jet-propelled planes.

JOHN BADIUK, salesman: I was glad to hear it and will be very interested to see some of the experimental work that will be done, particularly the testing of the jet-propelled planes.

MARY WILDE, secretary: I was surprised to hear it. With Edmonton's reputation as an international air routes it seems a logical spot for headquarters of such manoeuvres.

City Churches Filled to Capacity For Remembrance Day Services

Edmonton's churches were filled to capacity Sunday as men, women and children attended special services of remembrance for those who gave their lives in the world's last two conflicts.

In most churches two minutes' silence was observed in memory of the "glorious dead." For many churchgoers it was a personal tribute to sons, husbands and fathers who did not return from the battlefields.

Special sermons were given in most churches, with ministers calling on their congregations to pray for a deeper understanding in all mankind, so that future generations will not have to suffer the ravages of destruction and waste that accompanies wars.

Atomic energy and what it will mean if the world plunges into conflict again was brought out by many of the ministers.

CHOIRS PREPARED special musical numbers, and some churches held a memorial service in honor of the dead war heroes.

Civilian congregations attending the services were interspersed with a generous sprinkling of men and women in uniform, who paid homage to their comrades who gave their lives in the cause of freedom.

W. Macgregor Heads 51st Battalion Assn.
W. Macgregor was elected president of the 51st Battalion Association at the annual meeting held in the Memorial Hall last week. Robert Woods was chosen as secretary, and A. K. Goodwin was selected for the position of secretary-treasurer.

Others elected to the executive were: Albert E. Knowler, W. D. McVicar, R. C. Arthurs, D. G. Grant, Phil Richards and J. E. Fairhead. Chosen as trustees were: Bob McVicar and Alan Elliott. Auditors are G. Simpson and C. A. Lash.

Picture In Berlin

German People Only Regret That They Lost the War, Show No Sense of Guilt

By WILLIAM L. SHIRER

Copyright, 1945, NY Tribune, Inc., and The Edmonton Bulletin.
 BERLIN, Nov. 12.—So this is the end of Hitler's one thousand year Reich—the end of the awful tyranny, the bloody war, the whole long nightmare of a storm that some of our American correspondents began covering a decade ago from this one proud capital.

IT IS SOMETHING TO SEE here where it ended. And it is indescribable. How can you find words to convey truthfully and accurately the picture of a great capital destroyed almost beyond recognition, of a once mighty nation that has ceased to exist, of a conquering people who were so brutally arrogant and so blindly sure of their mission as the master race when I departed from here five years ago and whom you now are peering about the ruins broken, dazed, shivering, hungry human beings without will, purpose, direction, reduced to animals to foraging for food and seeking shelter in order to cling to life for another day.

AMONG THE AMERICANS themselves there seem to be two schools of thought. One wishes to have a good deal of the industry for the Germans. The other believes that Germany can exist peacefully on much less. One line of contention among the Americans is the secret report on the problem which was rather hastily prepared by the American representatives of the Allied Control Council. The report was based on the estimates of German production as furnished by the German government. It recommended for instance that though in accordance with the Potsdam stipulations the German standard of living has been reduced to 1935 level, the standard should be adjusted, among other things, to produce twice as much steel as in 1932 when her territory and population were considerably larger than now.

IN FACT THE HOOVER committee concluded you could not maintain the minimum German standard of living and carry out the policy of "democratic disarmament." Some American experts violently disagree. Right or wrong they see in the Hoover report the beginning of a new era in Germany, backed by Hoover, to rehabilitate Germany.

But even Hoover admitted that the Germans will not be living very well for at least five years. Nations for that matter will be the Poles, the Belgians and others that Germany robbed and murdered. Some 60 per cent in the American zone, according to Eisenhower, are living on a subsistence diet though in general it is inferior to the diet the Germans thought sufficient for the people they conquered.

THE GERMAN WHIMPER and complain, of course. The other day one of their liars on the front page of a Berlin newspaper wrote: "We are not the only hungry ones. All of Europe is hungry. It hungers because we Germans stripped their lands to the bones, stole their cattle, destroyed their harvests. They're lingering for the second time—first during the war when we overran them and now while we're recovering from Hitler's war. Yet even now the Allies are sending in enough food to enable us to keep our heads above water." The editor thought the Germans might be a little more appreciative.

His EXCELLENT reasoning, I told him, probably fell on deaf ears. It will be a long time, I fear, before the Germans might be a little more appreciative.

Typical of these was a bald-headed man I met. He had prospered under the Weimar Republic, then under the Nazis. "I suppose you've joined one of the democratic parties now," I said. "Not yet," he replied. "Suppose you were to pull out of the Russian state and Germany goes Communist. I think then it would be wiser for me to join the Communist party."

He is a person so confused as, as reduced to the bare job of keeping alive and warm obviously has little idea of where it's going, or even where it would like to go. One single point on which all I've talked to agree—Communists, Socialists, Liberals and Christian Democrats who make up the four parties permitted by the Allies to operate in a unified Germany.

THEY ARE WAITING anxiously whether France succeeds in obtaining what is left of the Reich for their beloved Russia. The French and the United States are against the partition. What becomes of Germany, of course, will depend largely on what the Allies decide. But the four Allies have made up their minds on many things, including the eventual partition. But the four Allies on whose alliance to stick together until the German question is finally solved and future peace depends, are working together more much better than I had any idea at home.

THE OTHER DAY I sat in on a meeting of the Allied Kommando which ruler Berlin I had heard the usual stories that the Russians were inoperative, the French troublesome and the British not always helpful. It was the turn of Russia's General Smirnov to preside and I recalled how I had been told the Russians were the faintest idea of how to conduct an international meeting. Actually General Smirnov presided with utmost humor and dispatch. Naturally at times you felt a pang between east and west. But what impressed you was the tolerance of all four generals and their willingness to make compromises to come to some agreement.

THE GREAT PROBLEM for the

CARNIVAL—"Don't you dare name it after me, Enderby Endgate—not after bragging about its 5-ton displacement and 10-foot beam!"

Council Names Standing Body Upon Housing

Edmonton's serious housing situation, and the proposed utilization of the Jesuit College property as a hospital for Indians came before the inaugural meeting of city council Saturday when Ald. Mrs. R. M. Browne asked if any official action had been taken by the city to have the property made available for conversion into housing accommodation.

SHE ALSO ASKED that a committee be appointed to investigate the possibility of carrying out a survey to determine the amount of housing that could be made available if all surplus property was presented into service.

On motion of council a committee on housing was named. Its members being Alderman Sidney Bowcott, J. B. Gillies and Mrs. Browne.

CITY COMMISSIONER R. J. Smith told council that representatives had been made to Ottawa authorities seeking the use of the Jesuit College for housing. He said that reasons why the building had been selected for hospital use had been received from the minister of Indian Affairs, and that it was apparent the department was determined to use the structure as a hospital.

Ald. J. B. Gillies asked if the Dominion government had consulted with the city authorities before proceeding with the project. Commissioner Gillies and the city had been consulted, he stated. The Dominion government will not impose any conditions on the city, he stated.

ALD. J. B. GILLIES was named chairman of the standing committee to select members of the different committees of council, and to name representation on membership of the various city boards.

Railway Workers Over Loan Quota By About $85,000

Employees of the Alberta division of the Canadian National Railway have exceeded their quota in the Ninth Victory Loan drive by about $85,000, officials announced Saturday.

The Edmonton division went over the top by $75,000, and Calgary division by about $10,000.

In a ceremony Friday afternoon, V. F. Dingle, general superintendent of the Alberta division presented a V-Flag to J. R. MacMillan, Edmonton division superintendent.

It's such a relief to step on the gas pedal, so it's good, really, to have a car that's so easy to operate. You can have it like that, too, with one of these handy, inexpensive battery boosters. No moving parts, no levers to spill, simple, safe and easy to use. Plug into a proper light socket, and you're ready to go. No need to worry about battery acid or anything else. Just plug in the booster and you're ready to go. No need to worry about battery acid or anything else. Just plug in the booster and you're ready to go.
